

Home Library Resources

THE YOUNG BLOOD LIBRARY

Ginger Nuts of Horror is a review blog dedicated to horror books and films. Its Young Blood Library page, curated by a school librarian, is bursting with middle grade and YA horror book reviews, new release round ups, and advice on how to engage young people with horror fiction.

<https://gnofhorror.com/the-young-blood-library/>

Books For Keeps – The Children's Book Magazine Online

Books for Keep is a free bi-monthly online magazine dedicated to children's books. Each issue includes curated book recommendations, author interviews, academic articles on children's literature, and reviews of newly released titles.

<https://booksforkeeps.co.uk/>

PaperBound Magazine

PaperBound is a free online magazine for young people featuring author interviews, book reviews, poetry, book extracts and writing tips for aspiring authors. Issues are released twice a year with additional content shared on the PaperBound blog.

<https://paperboundmag.com/>

Epic Reads | Young Adult (YA) Books & Books for Teens

Created by publisher HarperCollins, this is your go-to source for everything YA.

<https://www.epicreads.com/>

Simon Teen: Best Books for Teens & Young Adult Readers

Bursting with bookish quizzes, new and upcoming releases, author spotlights and more. It also offers a selection of free eBooks and extended excerpts which update each month. Registration is required to access the eBooks.

<https://simonteen.com/>

Manga: Out of the Box — Google Arts & Culture

A digital exhibition which explores the history of manga and its roots in Japanese culture. Users can take virtual tours of manga museum, discover how iconic artists developed their style, and even have a go at creating their own manga character!

<https://artsandculture.google.com/project/manga>